

Service Five
We design your own collection

Background You already have your own range of existing products and your own design team and production.

Maybe you are lacking resources to deliver according to plan. You may want to reinforce your team temporary. Delegate a part of the range that is not interesting for you but still needs designing. You may want a base to work from to compete internationally. Else, you need some routine projects covered so you free resources to take part in that international competition.

Maybe you simply need to create a collection in a specific style and need a base to work from.

We sketch your own original collection.

If you can see it, you can be it!

How We can sketch a full collection of products in the price range, material and style of your choice, according to briefing.

Value You will receive the drawings at the level of detailed execution you and your team need to take the next stride. From sketches for the in-house team to re-work to fully designed items, with the software of your choice. You will receive boards documenting the process, from mood boards to the products taken as a reference point.

The collection of products will be designed in accordance with your existing range of products and based on your business goals.

We support start-ups, scale-ups and established firms to make an idea, a service or an item into a product that can be sold with our competence and global network of experienced partners.

No-nonsense approach guaranteed.
